The Economic Crisis

The Largest Bankruptcy in History

When historians look back on what is being called the Great Recession, Sept. 15, 2008 will be a key date in a time line of tragic events that, one by one, fundamentally changed the US and global economy.

That was the day the fourth-largest investment bank in the US, Lehman Brothers, filed the largest bankruptcy in history.

To neutralize the crisis on the money market, more than USD 3 billion was created and “injected” into the market each week.

Most experts agree about the inevitable consequence: inflation

Experts recommend gold!

Gold is not only stable in value. During the last 10 years gold has tripled in value and experts estimate that it will at least double during the next 10 years. The true value of gold is shown in times of crisis.

Are you on the right track?

If you could, would you take advantage of the opportunity to make yourself independent from inflation risk?

Experts recommend that 5 to 20% of every person’s assets should be secured in gold.

April 2009 Marc Faber - Economist and investment guru

“I am 100 percent sure that the US will go into hyperinflation.

The problem with government debt growing so much is that when the time will come and the Fed should increase interest rates, they will be very reluctant to do so and inflation will start to accelerate.”

“I’m sorry to say I think the whole world is an Iceland.

I think we have countries like Britain and Ireland and Switzerland that have problems similar to Iceland, though they’re not as bad as Iceland.

Basically, Iceland became a huge hedge fund. They raised money in the international capital market; they then leveraged that money to buy assets all over the world.

So, when asset prices stopped rising, banks and institutions in Iceland had a major problem.

Banks were some of the worst offenders. They gambled on poor investments, believing that markets couldn’t fail.

They are children of the bull market.”

Gold

For centuries, buying gold has been recognized as one of the best ways to preserve one’s wealth and purchasing power.

Gold is a unique investment, one that has served mankind well for thousands of years. From the times of ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans to more modern times, man has been fascinated with the beauty and magic of gold, and with its power to change men’s lives.

Many European countries implemented gold standards in the later part of the 19th century until these were dismantled in the financial crises involving World War I.

After World War II, the Bretton Woods system pegged the United States dollar to gold at a rate of US $ 35 per troy ounce.

The system existed until the 1971 Nixon Shock, when the US unilaterally suspended the direct convertibility of the United States dollar to gold.

Gold bullion is real, honest money...and, many say, the best form of money the world has ever known. It is a store of value and a safe haven in times of crisis. Gold is rare, durable and does not wear out in the manner of lesser metals (or paper money!) when passed from hand to hand.

A small amount, easily carried, can purchase a significant amount of goods and services. It is universally accepted and can easily be bought and sold around the world.

November 2009 Marc Faber - Economist and investment guru

“Dubai was just the tip of the iceberg. The ultimate result of the financial crisis will be not just bankrupt banks, but more bankrupt governments.”

Gold: “We will not see less than the $ 1,000 level again, Central banks are all the same. They are printers.

Gold is maybe cheaper today than in 2001, given the interest rates. You have to own physical gold.”

Marc Faber suspects gold will be closer to the $ 4,000 mark in the near future.

March 2010

Faber sees the Greek bailout potentially leading to a bailout of Spain and Portugal, creating further monetization and a weaker euro. He mentions that bankrupt states like Illinois and California may also get bailed out.

Monetization, Faber says, is not all bad for equities, but is not favorable for government bonds. “Everybody should accumulate gold over time,” he states. “I would recommend people to buy, every month, some gold forever.”

April 2010

When you look at Greece like a corporation, they are basically bust. And if it is bust then it does not help to expand and actually increase loans.

Greece is caught in a big problem and their currency (which is Euro) is hugely overvalued. So in these circumstances I would advise the people in that country to buy gold.

Purchasing on a monthly basis averages the cost, smoothing out market fluctuations. Like any normal savings account, you can also make extra payments into your gold purchasing account.

Free delivery and free storage

If you purchase one ounce of gold from an Internet retailer each month the postage per gram would be at least € 5-10.

Your KB gold is stored for free in the St. Gotthard Massif in Switzerland and you receive a statement confirming this. Even the Swiss government store their gold in this secure location.

Gold valued at € 3,000 or more can be delivered directly to your front door, free of charge.

Alternatively, you can sell it back to KB and receive payment at the current gold price.

Your local authorities will not have access to your gold in Switzerland and your purchase will not be registered outside Switzerland (unlike purchases made through a bank or the Internet).

This can be important in times of crisis, because governments have been known to seize assets in exceptional situations. Only KB gives you the freedom to choose - at no extra cost!
